PHD Director Dr. Van Do-Reynoso confirmed Lompoc Prison is currently experiencing a COVID-19 outbreak with at least 28 patients. The prison continues to follow strict protocol with PHD in close communication. The total number is reflected in Santa Barbara County's confirmed cases. Monday marks the 18th day of Governor Newsom's executive shelter in place order. PHD Officer Dr.

Henning Ansorg commented on a slight deceleration of anticipated infections. "It gives me hope," he said stating we'll achieve our goal to slow down the progression of the virus as long as everyone continues to stay at home and socially distance. Additional testing capabilities are expected to come online later this week. Currently, PHD is averaging 80-90 tests a day with the capability to successfully test the most vulnerable populations with a quick figures compared to SLO are mediocre. So why aren't we doing more?

All the more reason not to go to the doctor or hospital unless it is an ACTUAL emergency, i.e.

Does the person giving the reports, know how long it is taking to recover from it? And do you know what the treatment plan is to those in the hospital? Are the people on ventilators older people? Do you know the ages of the people who died from it? I ask these questions because

This seems as good of a time as any to truly thank our health care workers. They know the threat and the odds are that many of them will contract this virus themselves, but they still show up every day for their patients. Thank you!!!
